

Local Business Building Opportunities for Generations!

Loeb-Lorman Metals, Inc., a local metal processing business that has been serving the community for over 90 years, is not only committed to meeting the needs of its corporate partners, but its community partners, as well. Since its inception in 1914, Loeb-Lorman Metals, Inc. has built its business on a responsible and civic minded foundation. This thriving Jefferson County corporation continues to promote organizations and initiatives that positively impact the community. Archie Loeb instilled this giving attitude as one of the first members of the Board of Directors for Opportunities, Inc. of Jefferson County, which provides vocational training and employment for over 1500 community members annually. The partnership between Loeb-Lorman Metals Inc. and Opportunities, Inc. is an example of the impressive commitment this local company has to its community.

Now, the second generation of the Loeb family is expanding the example set forth years ago, through a significant financial gift to launch Opportunities, Inc.'s Corporate Building Campaign. Loeb-Lorman Metals, Inc. has provided a generous donation in support of the six million dollar remodel and renovation project that is now in its second phase of development at the Fort Atkinson facility. This contribution will initiate the agency's formal corporate fundraising efforts for 2011, as they invite their many business partners to invest in this building advancement.

It is an exciting time for Opportunities, Inc.'s progressive facility improvement that will expand work space over 80,000 square feet and further vocational training and manufacturing capabilities for individuals with disabilities and other life barriers. When this renovation is complete in the fall of 2011, it will provide a state of the art and energy efficient facility that will be well prepared to continue to build exciting and innovative opportunities for the community!
